Senator Pepper Says Spirit of Colonel Rules Present Day Optimism.

Pennsylvania was introduced at the Carnegie Hall meeting by Mrs. Corinne Roosevelt Robinson as the "man more nearly like my brother than any other man in public life to-day." Though in favor of memorials and one of the most active workers in the association to perpetuate her brother's memory, Mrs. Robinson said the greatest permanent memorial Roosevelt could have lay in the ideals of citizenship expressed by the young men and women of America. The keynote of Senator Pepper's speech was that forward looking optimism of America to-day was a rebirth of the Rooseveltian creed, and the immortality of his influence meant strength and steadiness for the people of the nation.

"To-day we are rejoicing because Theodore Roosevelt has been born again," he said. "There is not a tinge of sadness in our celebration. The immortality of his influence makes us glad with an exceeding great joy.

"We are here to-night to be baptized into his spirit. Pray God that it may be a total immersion, for we need all his cheerful courage. Moving forward never scared the Colonel. Exregie Hall meeting by Mrs. Corinne herence. It is due to him that his party is at once progressive and steady, and his influence is to-day the greatest stabilizing force within the Republic."

Others who spoke were Mrs. John Hanry Hammond, president of the Woman's Roosevelt Memoria! Association, and Mrs. August Belmont.

Thousands of navy buttons designed by Mrs. Sally Farnham, the sculptress were sold throughout the city for the benefit of the National Navy Club at 15 East Forty-first street. The medals were sold in two sizes for ten and twenty-five cents and so great was the anticipated demand that 200,000 were struck off and placed at booths in department stores, hotel lobbles and business buildings.

Navy day in Oyster Bay yesterday was the greatest "Roosevelt day" since President Roosevelt's death more than four years ago.

Admiral Hilary P. Jones, commanding the Atlantic fleet, came ashore with his officers and men from the destroyer and three submarines which dropped anchor in the Sound Thursday and marched with Oyster Bay citizens to the services at the Roosevelt grave.

Report She Is in New York Incognito Is Denied.

Special Dispatch to The New York Herald.
CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—Relatives and friends of Miss Mary Landon Baker denied to-day the report that Miss Baker had arrived incognito in New York from London and that she has been married to Allister McCormick of Chicago.
"The report is utterly rediculous," said Mrs. Robert M. Curtis, sister of Miss Baker. "There is about as much ruth in it as there is in most of the stories circulated about my sister. We expect both my mother and Mary home around Thanksglving time and Mary will return as she went—unmarried."

Miss Baker kept Allister McCormick waiting at the Fourth Presbyterian Church last January, when she was to be married to him. It was explained she was ill. She went later to the California ranch of the Bakers for a short time and then went abroad.

The fact that a young Hungarian, Miss Tunda Brajjer, gave her first local plano recital last evening in Aeolian Hall directs the mind to Mark Hambourg's recently published book entitled 'How to Play the Piano.''

It begins with what Homer would call "these winged word: "Let us censider a little what possibilities and difficulties await the youth who desires nowadays to take up the piano professionally and carve out a career for himself with its aid. It is first of all necessary to bear in mind that the present day public dernands greater attainment han every hefore from executant artists."

Mr. Hambourg continues by qualifying this statement with the observation that everything is harder than it used to be because life is so much more strenuous. Listening to many of the young planists who emerge from the little door or the left side of the Aeolian platform the music lover wonders why they hope to attain distinction in a calling which brings glory and a competance to only a very few. Miss Brajer played the plano last evening very creditatly. She showed that she had been carefully trained in the school of medern technic by Morita Rosenthal and she performed Liszt's "Weinen Klagen" in a manner resembling in miniature that of the emirent German-Italian. Buson'. Harry Kaufman Gives First Piano Recital.

Harry Kaufman, who has been known as accompanist for Zimbalist and other artists, gave his first piano recital last evening at Town Hall. Mr. Kaufman was one of the soloists selected by the Stadium concerts' auditions last summer. His recital last evening attracted a large audience, and his performance apparently afforded genuine pleasure.

His program had variety, and was not backneyed. He played with dignity and technical finish. In one of his principal numbers, Busoni's transcription of Bach's Chasonne, his tone in forte passages lacked sonority, but his clarity of enunciation and good phrasing were, here as elsewhere, among his featured accomplishments.
